

Happy 100th Day of school!

We have been super busy in Kindergarten. We will be celebrating the 100th day of school on February 1 and of course Groundhogs Day on the 2nd. We will be getting ready for Valentine's Day and we are sure it will be a lot of fun, Thanks so much for the volunteering to help at our class parties. We will be learning about presidents and other famous Americans. Ask your child what facts they know about Abraham Lincoln, George Washington or Martin Luther King, Jr. We will also learn about Dental Health and how about keeping our teeth healthy. We will discuss the importance of nutrition and keeping our bodies healthy. And finally we studied weather. We will be discussing ways to keep our world healthy.

The Kindergarten kids have really improved on reading and writing skills. We are so proud of these fantastic students, who have learned so much this year. Way to go! Keep practicing at home! Read, Read, Read!

Mrs. Bunker's classroom would like to welcome Miss Emmalee Wilson. She is a student teacher from Rockford College and she will be with us until May. We are so excited to have her!

Watch your calendar and notes that will be sent home in the future to tell you about upcoming events. We have some exciting things in the works!! There will be fun for all on these wonderful learning experiences.

Thanks for all the support through out the school year
